Jacob Johnson, an Outdoor Product Design & Development graduate, accepted a position at Outdoor Research as an Apparel and Trims Designer!

"The opportunity to work for Outdoor Research, which is known for functional and sustainable apparel has me beyond excited. Being afforded the chance to come in and help modernize and push them into the next stage of growth will be the chance of a lifetime. Their company culture provides room for creativity and ensures that everyone's ideas are heard. I can't wait to be a part of the team!"
